

Bill Horn
Fifth District County Supervisor

Bill Horn knows San Diego, especially North San Diego County. A native San Diegan and North County business man and avocado rancher, Bill has earned a reputation as a champion for private property rights and fiscal responsibility in government.

When he was elected to the County Board of Supervisors in 1995, the County of San Diego was on the brink of bankruptcy. Today it has earned a national reputation as one of the best managed counties in the nation.

Bill graduated from San Diego State in 1966. With America at war, Bill enlisted in the Marine Corps. He was commissioned as a 2nd Lieutenant and was sent to the jungles of South Vietnam. There, he led his men as a Commanding Officer and was recognized for his extraordinary heroism with numerous decorations including the Bronze Star Medal and the Purple Heart.

Bill serves on more than 25 committees in San Diego County, providing leadership in areas that include housing, health, land use, water quality and supply, public safety, economic development, education, and transportation.

One of the most recent prospects that Bill and the SDNEDC are spearheading is a visionary project for North County called, Prosperity on Purpose.
